Dear Collector,

I am pleased to announce the release of the 2002 American Eagle Gold and Silver Proof coins. These coins feature two of the most popular coin designs in history and recall the golden era of coinage during which these designs were first produced.

The American Eagle Gold Proof coin bears a magnificent image of Liberty holding a torch and an olive branch aloft. This design by the internationally renowned sculptor, Augustus Saint-Gaudens, is also on the 1907-1933 Gold Double Eagle. It is that design that is also on the unique and historic 1933 Gold Double Eagle, which will be placed on auction by the United States Mint on July 30, 2002, in New York City. This coin is expected to generate a great deal of excitement in the collecting community.

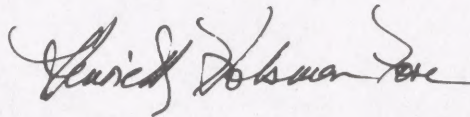

The American Eagle Silver Proof coin shows Liberty striding confidently toward a rising sun. This design first appeared on the half dollar in 1916. Sculptor Adolph A. Weinman was a student of Augustus Saint-Gaudens who went on to rival his success. His rendition of Liberty remains beloved by collectors around the world.

These unforgettable designs are flawlessly rendered in these proof coins, with frosted foregrounds that contrast strikingly with the background's shimmering mirror-like finish. Specially treated dies are hand-polished to create the distinctive cameo effect only possible with the exacting proof process. The blanks are struck at least twice to ensure sharp, high relief.

The low mintage numbers, the beauty of the designs and the quality of the proof process will make collectors want to order quickly to ensure that their collections are complete. Please act now to receive your American Eagle Gold and Silver Proof coins.

Sincerely,
